Screenings In HIGH DEFINITION

Planning an Organ Concert

Are you planning an Organ Concert? Why not give it that extra dimension by hiring our state-of-the-art equipment? St Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Cathedral have, and small churches, so why not you?

We find audiences and performers greatly appreciate being able to see the organist at work at the console. It educates the audience in a fun way and for organ students its like having a live Master Class.

Carlo Curley, American Virtuoso, St Saviour's, Birkenhead, Jan 2008 upgraded equipment

Professor Ian Tracey at Torquay Parish Church May 2008

Venues that have hired our equipment have found that mention of the "Big Screen Video Projection" on the posters has significantly increased the number of people in the audience.

If you went to hear Nigel Kennedy, say, at the

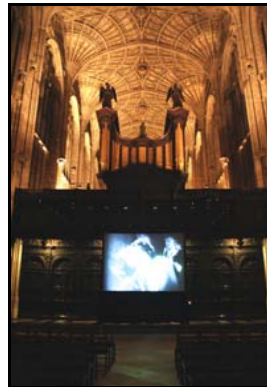

GlideCam
CamCrane

Royal Albert Hall, he wouldn't hide his violin so you couldn't see him playing !!, so why should an Organist not be seen?

Silent Movies

Remember the old "Silent Movies" of the 1920s & 1930s? They were the good old days. Well they are still here with us thanks to "Concert Video Presentations".

"King of Kings" David Briggs - Holy Week 2008 Kings College Cambridge.

Films such as the spell-binding 1927 blockbuster, starring Lon Chaney, "Phantom of the Opera", the epic 1928 film telling the story of Christ By Cecil B. DeMille "King of Kings", and "The Hunchback of Notre-Dame" can be viewed.

We have managed and run many Silent Film shows, for such organists as David Briggs on the opening night of the St Alban's International Organ Festival 2005.

At the Temple Church, London, November 2006 we set up 5 big screens for a screening of "Phantom of the Opera" with David Briggs.

Below a recent screening of "Phantom of the Opera" at the Warwick Festival with David Briggs July 2007.

St Mary's Warwick 2007

MAY 2006

We now have a 5000 lumen HD Projector and Sony HD Camera. All screenings are in High Definition for amazing pin sharp clear images. even

Our CamCrane gives us more possibilities for camera angles. See pictures opposite.
